

Facts

Overview

Here's to the Cook! is a creator of specialty foods that celebrates the art of cooking with pure, fresh ingredients. So natural are its products that consumers can convincingly pass them off as homemade. Founders Sandra Hartman and Barbara Giannetti develop the extensive collection of gourmet marinades, sauces, soups, spreads and toppings from recipes honed over years of experience.

History

Barbara Giannetti and Sandra Hartman first teamed in 1994 to make and sell handmade biscotti from a recipe passed down through generations of Barbara's Italian family. They have been creating and marketing specialty foods ever since. Their company became known as Here's to the Cook! during the summer of 2002 and features the wide collection of unique, versatile products developed by the pair to help consumers easily create elegant meals.
